GLEE CLUB WILL PRESENT CHRISTMAS PAGEANT DEC. 13

Nativity Play Adapted From The Seventeenth Century Provides Theme

ALL MEMBERS TAKE PART

Medieval English Carols To Be Sung At Costume Performance

Picturing life in Medieval England in both song and story, the Glee Club will present a Christmas Festival on Friday evening, December 13, in the Chapel.

Christmas carols of the period from the thirteenth to the seventeenth centuries, many of them still preserving their original notation and lack of designated rhythm and meter will be sung in their native setting of costume and custom.

A Nativity play, taken from the Coventry Pageant of Shearman and Taylor (1648) will be a part of the representation. The play itself, which is more a framework upon which to set the carols and other customary rustic festivities than a dramatic sequence, is written as well as directed by Miss Beatrice Wainwright.

The cast is as follows:

Lord Edward.....C. Fowler
Lady Eleanor.....K. Blake
Lord William.....M. Tillery
Lady Margaret.....E. Conover
Lord Robert.....M. Sturges
Lady Alayne.....E. Henderson
Haleford.....Jane Miller
Makeloye.....E. Copeland
Wassalers: S. Burnett, M. Carroll, K. Le. Bond, J. Reid, M. S. Kelen, R. Carmichael, R. Hason, D. Kedges.
Serving Men: S. Groner, M. Nelson, L. Oliver, P. Phillips.

Waifs: N. Goe, B. Williams, T. Holter, E. McRae, M. Panacke, A. Wampler, H. Nightingale.

Servants: A. T. Jones, M. D. Lyon, P. Rowe, H. Moulthrop, V. Squibb, M. Ward, H. Goodwin.

$60 CLEARED AT FRENCH

CLUB BENEFIT PARTY

The proceeds of the French Club Benefit Bridge held in Grammer parlor on Wednesday, November 27, netted over sixty dollars, according to Mary MacDonald, president of the club.

The bridge was well attended, both rooms in Grammer being filled, and punch and brownies were served during the afternoon.

Three prizes were awarded, one to Teresa Atkinson, '29, for the highest score of the afternoon, a second prize to Anne Spencer, '32, while the consolation prize went to Mrs. Ewing C. Scott.

A. A. Minstrels Headed By H. Matthews; Cast Chosen

Helen Matthews has been elected to head the Minstrel Show which will be held in the chapel, Friday evening, December 13.

The show, which is an annual affair, is always held the night before Christmas vacation and is the final send-off to a merry Christmas. The proceeds go towards the expenses of the Athletic Association.

Biddle has not yet definitely decided on the program but she has chosen the following girls to help her: Harriet Williams, Alice T. Jones, Merry Curtis, Betsy Embrey, Jane Callison, Betty Boone, Mary Macdonald, Charlotte Colco, Marjorie Sturges, Caroline Heath, Frances Lee Kelly, Martha Tillery, Meta Moore, Helen Nightingale, Virginia Pruitt, Mary Henderson, Virginia Bellamy, Mary Van Winkle and Annette Endler.

Beatrice Stone will play the accompaniment.

CHOIR TO SING CHRISTMAS CAROLS AT VESPERS, DEC. 15

Byrd's "Rejoice" New Number Added To Group Of Old Favorite Carols

The Annual Christmas Carol service, which has become a Sweet Briar tradition, will be held in the Chapel Sunday evening, December 15. The service, given every year by the Choir, is under the direction of Miss Beatrice Wainwright.

This service, which has always been one of the best loved of those held at Sweet Briar, is always given the Sunday evening before Christmas vacation. The old favorite carols will be sung as usual, and the principal new number will be "Rejoice" by William Byrd. According to Canon Fellows' book, "The English Madrigal", Byrd (1543-1623) is outstanding among English musicians and takes a high place among the world's composers. He is a pioneer in writing for keyboard instruments and strings. In all of his collections of Madrigals, there is a large proportion of church music.

President Glass Goes To Kentucky On Business

Miss Glass left Tuesday December 3 for Lexington, Kentucky, where she attended the annual meeting of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States.

On Wednesday, December 4, she spoke at a luncheon given by the Kentucky Association of Administrators. Women also visited the Science Hill School at Shelbyville, near Lexington, where she spoke informally to the students. Miss Glass at one time taught at Mount Sterling, Kentucky, and anticipated seeing some of her old friends there. She will return to Sweet Briar on Sunday, December 8.

APPLICATIONS FOR TICKETS, PULLMANS, OBTAINABLE NOW

Envelopes To Be Filled Out In Mr. Dew's Office Between December 6 and 13

SPECIAL LEAVES AT 11:40

Time - Between Washington And Chicago Shorted By New Penn. Train

Envelopes for tickets for all those taking trains from Sweet Briar on Friday, December 20, may be filled-out at Mr. Dew's office any time between Wednesday, December 4, and Friday, December 13.

As usual there will be a special train for New York leaving Sweet Briar at 11:40 a. m., arriving in Washington at 3:55 p. m., Baltimore at 5:03 p. m., Philadelphia at 7:08 p. m. and New York at 9:05 p. m.

For the benefit and comfort of the large number of girls who go to Chicago and points north and west, the Pennsylvania road has made arrangements to bring as many cars down here as necessary to accommodate them. When the special train arrives in Washington at 3:55, the cars will be switched and the Golden Arrow, and will leave Washington at 4:18, arriving in Chicago at 11 the following morning.

For all those going to Texas and points west a sleeper will leave here at 3:32 Friday afternoon, arriving in Memphis at 7:05 a. m. on Saturday, December 21, in time to make the necessary connections.

The Norfolk and Western Railway will run a through sleeper from Lynchburg at 1:20 on Friday, arriving in Jacksonville, Fla. the next day at 9:00.

New Dramatists Score in "You and I"

BY ALICE DABNEY

Saturday evening, November 20, according to the annual customs, the new members of Paint and Patches presented "You and I," by Philip Barry, as their play.

It was remarkably clever and well suited to amateur production, and dealt with the suppressed ambitions of an artistic soap manufacturer (Sarah Phillips) and his son (Jane Milar).

Interest was sustained by the love affair of the son and by the sacrifices made by his mother (Martha Ross) and his fiancée (Emily Lou Haller). The supporting character of Etta, the maid, (Betty Boone) was particularly effective.

Sarah Phillips, as the manufacturer, gave a satisfactory interpretation of a difficult part. Jane Milar's performance was excellent, especially in the second act. Emily Lou Haller and Martha Ross were both appealing and sincere, and seemed to have true "stage presence".

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING ISSUE

THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPING ISSUE of the NEWS is a decidedly new venture, prepared for the purpose of aiding the students in their Christmas shopping, and especially for the purpose of drawing the readers' attention to the variety of gift selections which can be found among the list of regular advertisers of the NEWS.

Betsy Williams, '30, deserves credit for her work as organizer and author of the Shopper's column, while to Betsy Embrey, '30, belongs praise for her series of brief book reviews.

The NEWS hopes that its readers will take advantage of this edition and that they will patronize the advertisers who have made it possible.

MISS STEVENS DEPARTS ON 6-WEEKS VACATION TRIP

Plans To Visit Friends In Many Cities; To Spend Three Weeks At Home

Although she is not a Founders' Day Honor student, Miss Ruth Stevens, manager of the Bowwood Inn, is to have the longest Christmas vacation of any member of the college community.

Miss Stevens left Sweet Briar on Monday, December 2, and her itinerary includes plans for visits with friends in Ohio and also a short visit with Miss Mary Kellogg, a former member of the faculty, at her home in Morenci, Michigan, and Detroit.

From there, Miss Stevens will go to Chicago, Milwaukee, Madison, and Peepnot, Illinois. She will be with friends in all of these places and then she will be at her home in Waterloo, Iowa, for three weeks. She does not expect to come back to Sweet Briar until January 17, when the students will be in the dull state which always precedes exams.

During Miss Stevens' absence, Miss Jane Weatherlove, Head of the Refectory, will take charge of the Inn. She will be aided by several of the waitresses, who have had experience along this line.

Miss Robinson To Speak At State Classical Ass'n

Dr. Florence H. Robinson, Professor of Latin and Greek, is to appear before the Virginia Classical Association in Richmond on Friday, December 9. She will speak on Roman Portraiture, and will illustrate her talk with lantern slides.

English Philosopher To Speak In Chapel December 6 On Newly-Chosen Subject

COMMITTEE DISAPPOINTED

Ballot Shows 51 Favor "British Labor Government" As Against 237 For Other Choice

"Civilization and the Machine" will be the subject of Bertrand Russell's lecture, Friday evening, December 6, at 8 o'clock in the chapel.

With a vote of 227 to 51, the decision was definitely made in its favor, and "The British Labor Government," the original choice of the Committee on Lectures and Music, was definitely discarded.

In choosing "The British Labor Government," the committee acted with the idea that this would be the subject of greatest interest to the members of the Sweet Briar community, not only because of Mr. Russell's intimate knowledge of it as an Englishman and member of the Labor Party, who is also an outstanding philosopher and statesman, but also because it is a subject of such widespread interest at this time.

With London the meeting place for the First Power Naval parade and the interest stimulated by Ramsay MacDonald's recent visit to the United States, the committee felt sure that it was making a choice which would be seconded by the other members of the faculty and the students as well.

Due to considerable agitation aroused by a few members of the opposition who were strong in their support of "Civilization and the Machine", it was decided to bring the matter to a vote.

This vote, which was held on Monday, December 2, when all members of the community were given an opportunity to voice their opinion in the matter, and cast a ballot for one topic or the other, resulted in a victory for the opposition and an overwhelming majority in favor of "Civilization and the Machine".

LAMENT FOR THE BULL-SESSION

What has become of the discussions we used to have at Sweet Briar? It seems to us that last year the college was full of little groups talking about anything from Clara Bow to the theory of relativity. We talked politics, philosophy, art and letters. Now we talk about (a) the new smoking rule, (b) W and L, (c) football scores, (d) Christmas; (e, f, g) W and L.

Tau Phi is having an open meeting for discussion of Bertrand Russell. It is an excellent plan and we hope not only that it will be well received but also that it will be followed by other discussions both officially and unofficially. We hope, too, that the coming of Mr. Russell will stimulate thought.

We have come to college to learn to think, to clear our minds of petty prejudices. We cannot do this without animated discussions of the type that Tau Phi is making the initial move to promote.

CONSIDER THE SENIORS

There is righteous indignation on the part of the seniors towards the underclassmen who come rushing to them at the last minute on Saturday evenings, asking them to take a date into the gym.

It seems that no amount of reminders can impress upon freshmen in particular, but others too, the fact that 12 noon on Saturday is the latest time for asking a senior to make this extra effort to be accommodating.

Seniors are conferring a great favor in consenting to do it as it is, and it is not only inconsiderate to go to them at the last minute, but decidedly uncomplimentary.

They are glad to do anything they can to oblige the lower classes, but no senior should have to upset her plans for a whole evening at seven o'clock or thereabouts, in order to take some date to the gym, in whom she is probably not interested anyway, but she does it just so she will not seem too disagreeable.

This, is not fair, and all we ask is that those who are not yet seniors remember that they will be before long and that they will be making this same plea.

WHY HAVE A HOLIDAY?

During this indigestion epoch at Sweet Briar we view with little compassion the heartless pressure endured with a superhuman mania for assigning tests to be given directly after a holiday.

It must be a diabolical urge or complex that promotes such consideration. Why have a holiday if it is to be darkened and utterly ruined by overhanging clouds of a possible failure? Why have turkey or cranberry sauce when indigestion can be the only outcome of such fearful anticipation?

Many are the poor struggling students among us who could better use the midnight oil to burn off their fat than to determine the complexities of chemistry, for example.

This seems to be the case of one against all and all against one. Cannot this one be quelled by mild entreaty or must brute force be applied? Some corrective action must be determined for peace must prevail.

Statistics prove that four out of every five normal female minds at Sweet Briar must work in perfectly harmonious surroundings in order to produce A's and B's. These same minds are scared into E's or possibly complete failure at the thought of an exam at the un-called for time of the day after a holiday, in this case the day after Thanksgiving.

Is it fair that the students should spend the best part of their one day off preparing for a quiz which could just as well be given before or at least a few days later? What is a holiday for if it is not to be enjoyed by students as well as faculty?

We have raised the battle cry—now let us clear away the clouds of depression.

Thanksgiving dinner as usual was a very much-dreaded occasion with a tiny handful of six or seven men among them. Dr. Connor deserves public commendation for leading the procession of uneasy but eager girls into the Senior Study after dinner for a cigarette.

Those who annually give thanks at Mrs. Wills, almost had their dinner broken up when they happened to look up at Geri, just in time to see her deliberately and slowly sprinkling peas here and there at random on her plate, believing firmly that they were gravy.

We deem it again necessary to advise the sophomores that even in the glory of evening dress they have two more years to go before they are Seniors, and it is an old custom to reserve the front rows in the Chapel for THE SENIORS on such occasions as Hans Wiener's recital.

It is a matter of keen interest and much debate as to just what sort of campaign Polly Swift and Jo Gibbs are conducting by their nocturnal room-to-room migrations to the freshmen dormitories. "Know a freshman a day, keep unpopularity away!"

Merry Curtis: A Jazzed Biography
Curtis is a corn-fed dame from the great corn belt. She circulates freely on the third floor of Gray and environs. She is president of the L. F. B. A. B. A. O. C. (League for bigger and better attendance at conventions).

Her favorite food: Hersey bars.
Her favorite sport: aeroplane rides.
Her favorite animals: brown-eyed mice.

Her favorite expression: "Pardue and how!"

She is famous for her "dim lamps," "weary dogs," and Blits Dillard's coat.

For an hour once a month she may be seen getting out a new Brambler.

We understand that the Blackwell's re-expanding household now includes the "Great Unwashed" (Williams), "The Great Unappreciated" (Stevens), and "The Satisfied One" (Stone). It would be hard to guess which one of the three was not present at this name-selecting bee.

Hockey season is over, but for some Seniors who for some reason feel sentimental over having played their last game at Sweet Briar, hockey season will remain for the rest of the year in their hearts—AND CONVERSATION!!

Mr. Dew's stories of Bishop Randolph's absent-mindedness have nothing on our own absent-minded professor, Mr. Martin, who walked from Sweet Briar house to Reid to get some music out of a locked cabinet, and having returned to Sweet Briar House, with the music, was forced to hike back to get his hat, safely locked up in the music cabinet.

Fond Parents Ruin of Would-be Sylphs

Any feeble attempt at dieting was certainly trampled under foot last week when the annual flood of Thanksgiving boxes descended upon the school.

From North, East, South and West they poured in, to grace the shelf, floor, table and desk in the post office while holders of the cherished sylph clamored for the window to open.

There were big boxes, little boxes, and medium boxes; Santa Claus himself couldn't have done better!

Carrying them home was more than rewarded by the supreme thrill of unpacking. This process usually consisted of a diving into excelsior, accompanied by howls. Any particularly choice bit was a cue for the chorus to chant "How wonderful!"

And then calories were tossed to the winds while the festive spirit of eating reigned, supreme! Everything from doughnuts (with Junie the dog's best wishes) to Aunt Emma's choice fruit cake was consumed with a feeling of complete satisfaction.

Dance sticks and brownies brought much of delight while candy was munched with the inward conviction that "to-morrow I shall diet!" The insistent small voice that said "you have had enough," was crushed! And, so far into the night, eating continued.

APPLICATIONS FOR TICKETS, FULLMANS, CAN BE HAD NOW

a. m., Tampa at 4:30 p. m., and St. Petersburg at 4:35 p. m.

In addition there will be a sleeper for those going to St. Louis, leaving Lynchburg at 4:50 p. m. and arriving there at an hour to be announced later. The Chesapeake and Ohio will run its usual sleepers from Lynchburg to St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Any girls who wish to check trunks must buy their tickets on Sweet Briar to their destination, otherwise they can make a slight saving by buying their tickets in Lynchburg and taking the bus from here to town.

We cannot help but admire Kumm's modesty—which prevented her from assisting Hans Wiener into and out of his costumes last Thursday.

Readers Say So

THE READERS' SAY-SO column is open to all subscribers of the NEWS and everyone is invited to contribute his criticisms, ideas, or criticisms through this medium. All contributions MUST be signed, but the signature will not be printed if the writer specifies this wish. The readers are urged to make use of this column because the NEWS welcomes all criticisms and suggestions.

Dear Editor:

In the name of the majority of the student body I would like to air a general grievance. Can't some crusading be aroused against the practice of hiding, hiding and otherwise monopolizing reserved books in the library?

To my mind it is the most despicable and unpardonable crime that can be committed. Let us campaign in favor of a little co-operation and consideration on the part of the girl who arrives at twenty minutes of two and finds someone holding the copy of Plato's "Dialogues" for her friends who amble in about 3:30.

I suggest posters and a brass band, if necessary, to get up a little public spirit and put the habit in among the vices, where it belongs.

A Reader

Dear Editor:

Though, to my knowledge, I have never been guilty of the offense mentioned by A, B and C in this column of the last issue of the NEWS, that of snoring places at table of upperclassmen in the refectory, I feel that latter expressed a rather inhospitable attitude towards guests who are taken in to dinner.

Imagine the embarrassment of the unfortunate guest upon being paraded around the dining hall after every one is seated. In a vain search for a place to sit. After all, should not our wish be rather for the comfort of our guests than to do all we can to make them feel at ease?

If A, B and C ever had the experience of trying to appear unafraid when being taken in to a strange place to eat, where there are no other girls, only a throng of unknown boys, they should have more of a fellow-feeling for the poor "dates" who are brought to the Sweet Briar refectory.

We cannot understand the sudden burst of spirit which lead a group of seniors to join one of the college songs most audibly at supper in the Refectory Sunday night. Probably just Storgers' unfeeling enthusiasm for keeping in the public eye or ear stirred her comrades on to song.

With the Alumnae

Margaret Timmerman, '29, is on the staff of the paper published by the School of Journalism at Columbia, where she is studying this winter.

Dorothy Fowler, '29, who is attending business school, in Worcester, Mass., has been visiting Elizabeth Crews '29, and Margaret Timmerman, '29, in New York.

Elizabeth Hilton, '29, is working in Marshall Fields in Chicago this winter. Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Moore announce the engagement of their daughter, Ida B., ex-'30, to Allan L. Lake Jr. of Richmond, Va. The wedding will take place in February.

The marriage of Louise Harper, ex-'27, writes that she had seen the variety games at Philadelphia and that "they certainly played good hockey and deserve lots of credit for fighting so well against club teams with years of experience!"

The marriage of Florence Ives, '21, to Lloyd A. Hathaway took place on Saturday, November 23, in Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

Constance Stankovich Michels, Lewis L., ex-'29, who was married on Thursday, November 21, was on campus with her husband for a short time on Thanksgiving Day.

A Page of Specially Selected Gifts

Christmas shopping at the last minute is difficult enough to do and Christmas shopping sandwiched in between term papers, quizzes, and the inevitable classes is even more difficult. The frantic questions of "What shall I give Aunt Mary?" or "Do you think a book will do for Dorothy?" usually lead to complete discombobulation of mind and spirit with the result that Aunt Mary and Dorothy receive the usual handkerchief enclosed in a Christmas card.

But this year it is really quite unnecessary, for all of the Lynchburg stores are fully prepared for all sorts of Christmas shopping. The variety of gifts is unusually large this year, and the prices are very moderate.

For the debutante friend, who has nearly everything under the sun, nothing could be more pleasing than the beautiful ostrich leather jewel case at MILLNER'S for $15.00.

For the travelers, RYLAND'S has a large display of traveling cases—some of them beautifully fitted—and BUCKINGHAM AND FLIPPIN have the last word in travelling clocks—all radium faces. The clocks range in price from $10 to $35, and can be had in all sizes and colors. And, while we're on the subject of traveling, the VIRGINIA ART BAG SHOP has invented just the thing for night travelling on the train. The invention is the Pullman bag, easy to carry. When it is hung up in the berth, it has a mirror, a shelf for hair pins, and boasts several large, rubber-lined pockets, and two rosy jackets for pajamas and robe. It's handy—and decorative—what more could one ask! In cretonne, the bag is only $2.75, and $4.50 in moire, made in many different colors.

Lynchburg is filled with dogs, cats, and all sorts of miscellaneous animals. If you have never seen a purple cow, now is your chance! For the animal lover, MILLNER'S carries a great assortment of iron doorstep dogs—Scotty's, bulldogs, police dogs, and terriers. The terriers are cunning! And there is a particularly life-like bull dog puppy—and a proud, alert police dog who would be perfectly at home in the study of the most hard-to-please man. For a cozy room there is a cat, curled up ready for a nap. The prices are from $2.50 to $5.00.

GUGGENHEIMER'S have a menagerie of futuristic china animals, for all sorts of purposes—candle sticks, book ends, or just decorative bits. Beautifully modeled pairs of china dogs can be found at BOWMAN'S—and for only $12.25. These dogs are very real—from two alert Gordon setters, to two crouching greyhounds. And then of course no one can resist the little fox terriers with hurt expressions on their faces, which are also on display here.

The lingerie at GUGGENHEIMER'S is particularly lovely, with prices ranging from $3.50 up to anything you may wish to pay. There are dance sets, gowns, and negligees of pale peach crepe, all trimmed with the coffee-colored lace so popular now in Paris.

The very latest thing for a man is a gentleman's comb and brush set like the ones at RYLAND'S for $12.50, made of sterling silver and ebony, and Oh! so good-looking! And BUCKINGHAM AND FLIPPIN have a new and space-saving silver brush, with a tricky comb that slips inside the top. In silver the set is $18.50; in ebony $15.00.

BOWMAN'S have an unusually good selection of Christmas cards, but if you are in a hurry and can't go into Lynchburg for your cards, just see Tools Better and Nancy Worthington. They are the Sweet Briar representatives of BOWMAN, and they take orders for printed, engraved, or plain cards.

Half the charm of a Christmas gift is in the wrapping—and you can find anything you desire in the way of ribbon, colored and printed papers, Christmas seals and decorations, at BOWMAN'S.

For the person who has an open fire-place in her home, a brown jug of flaming sand would be a welcome gift. These jugs are only $12.25 at GUGGENHEIMER'S. When the sand is thrown into the fire, brilliant and lasting colors appear in the flames like a rainbow.

MILLNER'S have a brown jug from which no one can steal a drink. Whenever the jug is tilted, the latest tune is heard! There are also musical powder boxes, from $6.00 to $7.50. The jug is $10.00.

There are many practical and appealing gifts at MOORE'S. The whisk brooms with carved wooden dog heads are very amusing, and there is an interesting selection of leather picture frames and cigarette boxes, with scenes from Merry Old England on the lids. One jaunty red elephant lifts his trunk to reveal a package of cigarettes. The prices are from $2.00 up.

The same shop also carries brocade cigarette cases—very deceiving—for they are to be carried like an evening purse. Just the thing for the theater or a holiday dance. They come in two sizes and prices, $5.00 and $8.00, and in a variety of brocades.

If you are interested in leather bill folds for the new money, RYLAND'S have a large stock for you to choose from. Particularly good are the bill folds in soft, pliable ostrich, with solid gold shield for initials, from $7.50 up.

And dainty cuff pins RYLAND'S have some sets showing exquisite workmanship, in enamel, white gold, and green gold, for only $45.00.

For the "Early American" enthusiast, (and there are lots of 'em) MOORE'S have an interesting collection of pewter goblets, tea services, plates, and bowls, all of them perfect reproductions of rare old pewter pieces. The goblets, in particular, are lovely, and there is a pitcher that is really outstanding in its design.

If you happen to be one of those cautious persons who carry a pencil in your handbag, go into RYLAND'S and see the exquisite tiny enamel pencils, in all pastel shades, decorated with rose buds. The long, slender pencils are $2.25, and the short ones are only $1.75. Ordinary Eversharp leads can be used in them, and one of these pencils would make a very acceptable gift.

BUCKINGHAM AND FLIPPIN display some very attractive loose powder compacts decorated in enamel and silver work, from $3.00 to $10.00.

For a dressing table at home or at college, a make-up box is a very useful thing to have. At GUGGENHEIMER'S you will find two sizes of make-up boxes for $1.75 and $2.25. The lids are covered with the old-fashioned prints, and when lifted they reveal a large, clear mirror, and several roomy compartments, some with glass bases.

Attractively framed Godey prints may be found at MILLNER'S. The quaint prints are framed with old-fashioned thin black frames, and would be very much at home in a Colonial bedroom. In two sizes—$1.50 and $3.00.

MILLNER'S also carry a very nice selection of men's scarfs, collegiate and otherwise. Some scarfs are in the deep browns and reds, and brilliant greens with black; and then there are the usual gray, black, and white silk squares for more formal occasions. The scarfs are priced from $1.98 to $5.00.

For a friend who has a new house, what could be more appropriate than a hand-made hooked or rag rug? The ones at BOWMAN'S are colorful and extremely well made, and can be had round or oblong. The rugs vary in price, but all of them are unusually reasonable.

Perhaps you are worrying about a hat in which to travel home. The YETTA HAT SHOP specializes in felt sport clothes, and all of them are very inexpensive.

GUGGENHEIMER'S have the very last word in shoe buckles. Outside of the very gorgeous cut-steel buckles, a less elaborate but equally effective buckle is made of steel mesh, in the shape of a bow-knot. The bows are rather tailored, and look especially well on suede pumps. These new shoe ornaments come in gun-metal, silver, and bronze, for only $1.00 a pair!

And then, if you really must enclose a handkerchief in a Christmas card, the handkerchief should be a very lovely one. MILLNER'S have fine white linen ones with colored linen inserts and with hand-embroidered roses made of tiny, exquisite French knots, for $2.00.

THE VIRGINIA ART BAG SHOP makes a specialty of hand painted, hand-hemstitched, chiffon handkerchiefs, the finest, daintiest wisps of chiffon imaginable—for $1.00.

Since it is a well-known fact that drug stores carry the most complete line of powders, perfumes, and toiletries, need we direct you to one of the two PATTERSON DRUG STORES if you are in search of the newest perfumes and bath powders? Try them and you'll be so pleased to think you went there.

Sport clothes demand sport jewelry this year—wooden carved chokers or matching sport beads. GUGGENHEIMER'S have practically everything you might want in this line from 98c. to $10.00. The chokers in the new dahlia shades are particularly striking, and there is a three-stranded string of graduated pearls for $10.00 that was just made to be worn with a black velvet dress!

For the shut-ins or invalids, MILLNER'S have all kinds of delicious home-made jam put up in individual Christmas boxes for 75c. each.

Decorative and useful, too! is the pinch bottle of amber glass with pewter top and trimmings at MILLNER'S for $7.50. A gift that would be appreciated by a friend who glories in glass achievements.

When you are shopping in Lynchburg, have a bite of lunch at the MASSIE AND LONG DRUG STORE. This is an excellent place to try perfumes and powders also, for they carry a complete assortment of Houbigants' and Coty's products, in Christmas sets and regular sizes. "L'Almait", Coty's newest perfume, makes an ideal gift.

CRAIGHILL AND JONES' display a very attractive Yardley set of powder compact and toilet water, of the famous Yardley scent. The price is only $2.00. Before you go home, prepare for Holiday festivities by getting a finger wave or marcel at the SHEARD'S HAIR SHOP. The waving is done by experts, who have finger waving reduced to a positive science. While you're there, you'd better get one of their excellent manicures so that you can arrive at home and step out to the first parties and dances with a light heart, knowing that your hair and your hands look their very best.

Small pieces and nephews are certainly the last to be forgotten at Christmas. If you go into GUGGENHEIMER'S toy department just to buy a doll or a toy airplane, the chances are ten to one that you will spend the rest of the afternoon there. There is every kind of mechanical device imaginable, and the very loveliest dolls are to be found there.

For the very, very, very young, BUCKINGHAM AND FLIPPIN have sets of forks, knives, and round handled spoons—all in the repousse pattern; just like the adult's silver—and every bit as up-to-date. No Mother Goose silverware for the modern child! The sets and individual pieces are from $1.00 to $5.00.

As a change from the usual gold or silver pins and pendants, stop and look at the jewelry made from the gorgeous, silky wings of South American butterflies at RYLAND'S. Pieces are priced from $2.00 up and you probably won't be able to resist buying a piece of it for yourself.

Men are awfully hard to select presents for. After receiving socks, neckties, and handkerchiefs for years, Father or Brother might welcome a new idea. And this new idea is to be found at MILLNER'S for $5.00. It is a round mahogany barometer, an artistic, useful, and durable addition to any study, library, or even garage. A larger one, for $7.50, has a thermometer attached.

Buying a Christmas present for yourself isn't at all a bad idea. A pair of satin bridge slippers with velvet bows, like the ones at COLEMAN'S, would be a perfect, "To me, from me," present. No one can buy a pair of slippers for you as satisfactorily as you feel! The Bridge slippers are $6.00—in flame, green, and black. For $4.00 there are mules of crepe in several soft pastel shades with gold kid heel straps. COLEMAN'S have the most distinctive brand of evening slippers in Lynchburg with a braided strap of gold and silver kid and a silver heel—and COLEMAN'S will dye the slippers any color you wish, to match any evening frock. The slippers are $12.50.

Such luck with hose! GUGGENHEIMER'S are having a specialty of very sheer chiffon hose, with a little drop-stitch here and there. These usually sell for around $3.00, but now they are out at $1.39! Really, these hose would make splendid Christmas gifts, for stockings are always appreciated, and these are rather unusual. Look into the matter—you might want a pair or two for yourself.

The subject of dogs can't be dismissed by a mere paragraph. The canine world is represented everywhere and in everything, but by far the most outstanding dog expert in Lynchburg is the exhibition of original etchings of dogs by Eberhard, one of the best etchers of dogs in New York City. The etchings consist of single heads and groups, from perky Pekineses to sterna mastiffs. The prices are $4, $5, $8, $10, and $12, and if you wish to have the etchings framed, GUGGENHEIMER'S have a complete framing department ten feet from the spot where the etchings are displayed. Don't miss these etchings!

So you see that shopping in Lynchburg isn't a difficult thing to do at all, if you know what is what and where! THE SHOPPERETTE.

We enjoyed Mac's recent submission to an attempt at hypnotism in social psychology class. It was more than educating to watch her sinking deeper and deeper into the realm of the unconscious with a broad grin on her face and her sides shaking with laughter. Wonderful thing, this hypnotism, isn't it?

New Dramatists Score Hit In Barry Comedy

Betty Boone, the star of the play, was the only member of the cast who seemed really professional. Her acting was natural and she seemed more at home on the stage than any of the others.

Louise Nelson and Rhona Brown were good as the sympathetic friend and hand-bill manufacturer, respectively.

Particular mention should be made of the scenery which was under the supervision of Jerry Mallory, '33. It was very well chosen and made an appropriate setting for a modern comedy.

RUSSELL TO SPEAK

ON "CIVILIZATION AND THE MACHINE"

The committee is of course abiding by this decision as the one desired by the majority of those who will hear Mr. Russell. The members regret, however, that the students did not consider "The British Labor Government" of as much importance as they did when they made their final selection.

Thanksgiving Hunt a Novelty
For Many But Provides
No Reward

Those who went on the annual Thanks giving hunt sat Thursday morning, November 28, at 7 o'clock in front of Gray. The field numbered about twenty-five, including Mr. Blackwell, Mr. Lewis, and Mr. Martindale, who acted as Master and Whip, and lent a note of color to the scene.

The hunting conditions were unfavorable because a high wind made it almost impossible for the hounds to keep the scent.

Many of the riders had never been on a hunt before, so even though there was no chase, the pink coats of the huntmen, the music of fawn-toned hounds giving tongue, and the call of the fox-horn, provided quite a bit of novelty. Also, the unusual experience of spending six hours in the saddle, undoubtedly made an impression on several of the novices.

The hunt returned to college about one o'clock minus a fox, but with an appetite for the Thanksgiving dinner which was served at five.

Those riding besides the huntmen were: Holdah Williams, Elizabeth Stevenson, Mona Stone, Elizabeth Goraline, Carolyn Martindale, Marjorie Sturges, Mary Huntington, Betty McCrady, Natalie Roberts, Jean Cole, Emma Knowlton, Helen Persio, Marion Porter, Mary Peters, Jeannette Shambaugh, Annette Hagans, Alice Martin, Mary Black, Augusta Wallace, Belle Hancock, Marjorie Ris, Miss Lois Ballenger and Jims Blackwell.

SOPHOMORES VICTORIOUS IN FALL ARCHERY TOURNAMENT

Helen Goodwin and Irene Kellogg, with a total of 419 points, won the annual archery tournament for the Sophomore class in the finals which were held on Tuesday, November 26.

The junior team came in second with a total score of 403, and the seniors third with the score of 351.

Mary Whitefield Fernald '31 was the individual winner of the tournament having a score of 230. Second place was won by Helen Beard '30 with a score of 220, and third place by Irene Kellogg '32 with a total of 213 points.

This tournament, which is an annual event, marked the close of the archery season. Nancy Worthington, '31, head of Archery, conducted the tourney.

Books as Christmas Gifts

Book Reviews

Books are always a fascinating subject, but the thought of books as Christmas draws near has a glamour all its own. Books are such welcome presents they last forever and never truly lose their style as one's last year's Christmas dress does.

There is a certain spirit in bookshops around Christmas time that is distinctive of the season. When you see the myriads of books with their gay and intriguing covers—it is most tempting.

The Little Book Shop and the Musketier Book Shop have an unusually fine selection of books which they offer for your inspection and selection. There are books of all description, fiction, drama, biographies, poetry and books complete in sets, variously illustrated and bound.

Among the most interesting at the Little Book Shop are the limited editions they carry.

"The Curtain of Forgetfulness,"

By William Lindsay, $5.

This is a volume of verse written by a Bostonian turned English. Mr. Lindsay blends antiquarian knowledge, poetic charm and dramatic force with rare skill and displays, too, a deep insight into the hearts of men.

This book has a limited American edition which is handled exclusively by the Little Book Shop which makes it quite a distinctive as well as a beautiful gift.

"The Golden Octopus"

—A Legend of the South Sea. By Viscount Hastings, $6.

The author has a home on the island of Moores, twelve miles from Tahiti. From the surrounding regions he has collected island legends charged with persistent animism. The legends with the ideal setting of the tropics, are simply told in naive fashion. The spirit of the tropics is well presented by the illustrations of Hilaire Young in warm, clear colors.

"Hills and the Sea"

By Hilaire Belloc, $5.

Admirers of Hilaire Belloc will like this; it also has the added attraction of sixteen color-plates by Donald Maxwell. "Book of Urizen." Wm. Blake, $8.

When thinking of CHRISTMAS GIFTS, think of BOOKS And when thinking of BOOKS, think of MURRELL and ABE EDMUNDS

Sheard's Hair Shoppe, 207 7th St.

A facsimile of the edition of 1794 which was entirely done by Blake himself. The soft tints of the drawings are exquisite and throw additional light on his verse.

"Hoppers Row,"

By Warwick Deering, $2.50.

This is like his first well known novel,

"Black Boxes." By Francis Brett

Young, $2.50.

Masefield believes it to be "a truly exquisite piece of work." It is sheer beauty, coming from one who has the most beautiful mind of the younger British writers.

Besides these books there are two series that deserve mention; the English Replicas Series which is a collection of a facsimile copy of old literary masters, price $2, and the Poet Series bound in blue leather, price $2.50.

From the Musketier Book Shop comes a wide variety of books

"Arista Webster,"

By Allan L. Benson, $5.

"Lorenzo the Magnificent," By David

Loth, $6.

A vivid biography recreating this vital personality with all its lurid background. It is a picture of Florence at the pinnacle of its glory.

"Emerson—The Wisest American,"

By Phillip Russell, $5.

A complete picture of Emerson and acquaintance with his friends Longfellow, Holmes, Thoreau, Carlyle, and Wordsworth. The literary life of the nineteenth century interwoven with the life of America's wisest citizen. "Morrison's Almanac and Every Day Book for 1930." Edited by Thayer Hobson $2.50.
